analysts expect that bristol-myers squibb co will post 1.90 earnings per share for the current fiscal year. seeing their intellectual property going out the door and they're looking for ways to prevent it," valerie believes in the value of a good education, which is why you'll often find her reading trade journals and staying on top of important industry trends.